.....WORKING THE NETS FOR KINGDOM ADVANCEMENT

*A Message From
The Rev. Jim Barnes, National Minister*

Contending for the Faith

In one of the shortest letters of the New Testament, Jude begins his epistle to his fellow Christians with these words:

Jude, a servant of Jesus Christ and a brother of James,

To those who have been called, who are loved by God the Father and kept by Jesus Christ: Mercy, peace and love be yours in abundance.

Dear friends, although I was very eager to write to you about the salvation we share, I felt I had to write and urge you to contend for the faith that was once for all entrusted to the saints. For certain men whose condemnation was written about long ago have secretly slipped in among you. They are godless men, who change the grace of our God into a license for immorality and deny Jesus Christ our only Sovereign and Lord. (Jude 1-4, NIV)

As I read those words, I was reminded of what I witnessed here in St. Louis a few months ago as the United Methodist denomination held their international General Conference at our convention center. At this meeting, the delegates were voting on the long standing prohibition against self-avowed practicing homosexual clergy and same sex weddings in the denomination. Although the vote was to maintain and strengthen the bans, it was only by a slim margin due to the fact that most of the delegates from outside the United States still hold to an orthodox view of scripture.

With this assembly of the Methodists, I was reminded of what is still happening in so many of the historic Protestant churches in America. In fact, had only the Methodist delegates from this country been voting, the denomination surely would have caved in on the issue as we have seen in the United Church of Christ, Presbyterian Church (USA), Evangelical Lutheran Church, Episcopal Church etc. Thus, I believe the words of Jude still have merit today as he states, "I felt I had to write and urge you to contend for the faith that was once for all entrusted to the saints."

The truth is, truth is still under assault in our society. In the historic mainline denominations of America, out of which many of our churches and pastors have come in the Evangelical Association, biblical truth is being challenged as secular and pagan values continue to worm their way into the church. Jude reminds us to be on guard, realizing that there will be “godless men, who change the grace of our God into a license for immorality and deny Jesus Christ our only Sovereign and Lord” secretly slipping in among the people of God looking to deceive and lead Christians away from the truth. While this deceit is having a huge impact on the liberal mainline denominations, it can even impact our local churches as people in our congregations are pressured to adopt the moral relativism so prevalent in secular culture.

Although many of us in the Evangelical Association have chosen to cut ties to denominational structures that have abandoned allegiance to the authority of the Bible, this does not mean that our churches no longer need to be concerned with drifting toward cultural accommodation. It can happen in our youth groups, our adult Bible studies and our fellowship groups. As our society becomes more accepting of unbiblical teachings and moral values, those same teachings and values can begin to slip into our local congregations in the name of “open mindedness,” “responding to the changes in our culture,” or even “being progressive.” While many conservative congregations have chosen to adopt firm positions on some of the controversial issues of the day by affiliating with groups like the Evangelical Association, there will be moments when even the most orthodox of independent congregations have to determine where they stand on the various challenges to traditional Christian theology and morality that face us these days.

I would leave all of us to consider the charge that was given to the increasingly liberal Presbyterian Church (USA) a few years ago by someone from outside their denomination and from another part of the world. Siarhei Hardun, a priest in the Orthodox Church and ecumenical delegate to the Presbyterian meeting from Belarus spoke these words of evaluation to the assembly - he said, “I was really struck while listening to your discussion about homosexuality, same-sex marriage, civil unions and other moral issues. Christian morality is as old as Christianity itself. It doesn’t need to be invented now. Those attempts to invent new morality look for me like attempts to invent a new religion - a sort of modern paganism. When people say that they are led and guided by the Holy Spirit to do it, I wonder if it is the same Spirit that inspired the Bible... My desire is that all Christians should contend earnestly for the faith, which was once for all delivered to the saints, as St. Jude calls us to do. And my advice as an Ecumenical Advisory Delegate is the following: ‘Do not be conformed to this world, but be transformed by the renewing of your mind.’” (The Layman, Vol. 43, #6, page 5)

North Carolina Regional Gathering at Shiloh Reformed

Members of St. John's Reformed in Kannapolis arrive for the regional gathering.

On Saturday, April 27, around a hundred people gathered from across the region to share in a day of worship, fellowship and study. Pastor Richard Myers and the people of Shiloh Reformed Church in Faith, NC hosted the event which opened with praise music led by Pastor Jeff Chewning of First Reformed in Landis and a message from national minister Jim Barnes on the importance of scriptural authority in this day and age. Workshops covered topics such as: teaching biblical doctrine in the local church, dealing with the wounds people inflict on one another, persevering through difficult times and building strong marriages which were led by pastors Lee Evans, Ben Greene, Allen Tyndall and Shane Roberts. Rev. Coslow Holt of Green Level Christian Church in Haw River shared the afternoon message and Rev. David Bitler of Rodgers Park Reformed Church officiated the Lord's Supper.

Keynote Presenters

Nathan Rittenhouse is an Itinerant Speaker with Ravi Zacharias International Ministries. He graduated from Bridgewater College in Virginia with a double major in Physics and Philosophy & Religion, and a minor in Mathematics before attending the Oxford Centre for Christian Apologetics. He holds a M.Div. from Gordon-Conwell Theological Seminary. Nathan has interests in topics of science and religion, church history, and systematic theology. He grew up in an active church and Christian family and developed an enthusiasm for Christ that has intensified with his academic studies. Nathan spent the last three years traveling and speaking in universities throughout New England, and is currently focusing on the Mid-Atlantic region.

Matt Pardi is a Network Director of the H2O Church Network, which is a collection of college churches (currently 12) that seek to bring the timeless message of Christ to the university setting. Matt was impacted by God in a big way when he gave his life to Jesus his freshman year of college. As hard as it was, he's loved the dramatic change that God brought into his life as his intimacy with Him grew. Being changed at that age has made college church near and dear to his heart. Seeing college students surrender their lives to Jesus and become leaders for Christ is amazing. Matt loves the mission of planting churches. They are a great catalyst for increased outreach and leadership development.

Workshop Sessions

Session #1 – 11:00am to 12:15pm

1. The Evangelical Association: Who We Are

Jim Barnes, National Minister of the EA

Liberal theology has been influencing the mainline churches for nearly a century and is now translating into policy decisions in many denominations which are forcing evangelical, conservative congregations and pastors to question their affiliations. In this workshop we will consider the Evangelical Association as a post denominational alternative for believers who want to take a stand for truth. This workshop is particularly helpful for those wanting to learn more about the EA or who are considering affiliation with the association.

2. Global Advancement

Wink & Glyn Kelso, Servants of Servants Ministries

Captivating mission stories in an interactive format to empower your church with a greater global vision and impact in your local community.

3. The Evangelical Association Mission Network (EAMN)

Pastor Steve Darr, First Congregational Church, Torrington, CT

The EAMN is the missions arm of the Evangelical Association. The workshop will focus on establishing and maintaining direct links between the local church, the missionary, and the mission field. Information presented will prove helpful in developing direct personal relationships with missionaries and making the choices of which missionaries and mission projects to support financially.

4. Equipping Church Leaders

Pastor Gene Bell, First Reformed Church, Bluffton, IN

Discover insights into establishing and maintaining annual leadership retreats for the purpose of equipping church leaders, as well as for annual church program planning.

5. Personal Evangelism

Thad & Monique Bergmeier

ABWE (Association of Baptists for World Evangelism) International in North America. Working with a new church planting initiative called EVERYETHNE, Thad & Monique come alongside churches to help them reach people groups by planting churches and multiplying leaders. They minister with churches, helping them advance, mobilize and multiply as they seek to own the lostness of their communities.

6. Stephen Ministry

Pastor Alex Young, St. John's Christian Church

Stephen Ministry is the one-to-one lay caring ministry that takes place in congregations that use the Stephen Series system. Stephen Ministry congregations equip and empower lay caregivers – called Stephen Ministers – to provide high-quality, confidential, Christ-centered care to people going through tough times.

7. Proclaiming Life! Amidst End of Life Issues

Chris & Carolyn Thurow

Welcome to a "vision casting" workshop! With the aging of the American population, how can the Church minister faithfully to individuals and their families who are facing the realities of declining health, chronic illness, or a terminal diagnosis? As many people contend with these issues while not having the support of an evangelical community, how can the Church best step into that situation with a witness that is bold in proclamation while being gentle and compassionate in shepherding? How can the Church become a center for education regarding end of life issues, at a time when the "right to die" movement is rapidly gaining momentum in our culture? Ideas for equipping the local congregation will be presented.

Session #2 – 1:30pm to 2:45pm

1. The Evangelical Association Mission Network

2. Equipping Church Leaders

Pastor Gene Bell

3. Proclaiming Life! Amidst End of Life Issues

6. Tattoos: Telling the Story

Pastor Dave Bitler, Rodgers Park Reformed Church, Kannapolis, NC

Looking at the effectiveness of evangelism in our current culture, Dave and Al Dayhoff have found that tattoos give a vital clue into the hearts and minds of their owners. For many, the soul (the image of God) is desperate to speak that it is writing on the canvas of the skin, in permanent ink... wondering if anyone is listening.

Session #3 – 3:15pm to 4:30pm

1. This Is Us

Wink & Glyn Kelso, Servants of Servants Ministries

Equipping and empowering local churches to impact their communities and the world with a fresh perspective of the Kingdom of God through the Tree of Life.
